

OBSERVER

10 Things to Do in New York's Art World Before March 18

By Paul Laster • 03/14/16 4:29pm

THURSDAY, MARCH 17

Lucy Dodd, installation view of Wuv Shack at David Lewis Gallery, (2015). (Photo: Courtesy the artist and David Lewis Gallery, New York. Photo by Jenny Kim)

Opening: “Open Plan: Lucy Dodd” at the Whitney Museum of Art

For the second installment of the Whitney’s “Open Plan” exhibition (a series of shows in the museum’s spectacular fifth-floor space) artist Lucy Dodd transports her studio to the museum’s gallery, where she will be inviting musician friends to perform. Ms. Dodd has made several shaped canvases for the exhibition that are meant to suggest sails or waves—a nod to the gallery’s river views—and while working in situ the artist will use natural materials and pigments she has gathered in her travels to construct a new piece in the very heart of the sublime architectural space.

Whitney Museum of Art, 99 Gansevoort Street, New York, 10:30 a.m.–6 p.m., free with museum admission